Kingston, Smiths Falls and Ottawa. Surveys for this line show a route leaving the GTR main line about six miles east of Kingston and going practically direct to Ottawa, about 70 miles. One hundred men started grading at the Ottawa end July 2. R.S. Logan, assistant to the second Vice President and General Manager, GTR stated recently in Montreal that the people engaged in promoting the construction of the line contemplated giving the GTR an interest in it and establishing friendly connections with the larger line. "We will interchange passengers," he said, "and probably run through cars. On account of these friendly relations it is the desire of the GTR to encourage the new road and support it as much as possible."

Kingston, Smiths Falls and Ottawa. A letter from A.T. Drummond, respecting the route of entrance of this projected railway into Ottawa, is before the city council. Some years ago the council voted $50,000 to the company towards the construction of this railway, but nothing was done towards earning it. The company has been taken up by the GTR and an assurance given that as soon as the location plans have been approved of by the Government, construction will be started. The application to have these plans approved by the Railway Commissioners was made by the GTR legal department and we are advised that while the company is not a GTR one, traffic arrangements have been made between the two companies.
